

MATCH THE QUOTES - HIDDEN FIGURES

I am a negro woman	I am not going to entertain the impossible.
And I'm a Polish Jew whose parents died in a Nazi prison camp.	Now. I'm standing beneath a spaceship that's going to carry an astronaut to the stars. I think we can say we are living the impossible.
“The point is, Your Honor, no Negro woman in the state of Virginia has ever attended an all-white high school.” “It's unheard of.”	And before Alan Shepard sat on top of a rocket, no other American had ever touched space. And now, he will forever be remembered as the US Navy man from New Hampshire, the first to touch the stars.

And I, sir, I plan on being an engineer at NASA, but I can't do that without taking them classes at that all-white high school, and I can't change the color of my skin.	So, I have no choice but to be the first. Which I can't do without you, sir.
There you have it. No more colored restrooms. No more white restrooms. Just plain old toilets. Go wherever you damn well please. Preferably close to your desk.	Here at NASA, we all pee the same color.
And it is not because we wear skirts...	It is because we wear glasses.
How can you be possibly ogling these white men?	It's equal rights. I have the right to see fine in every color.

Would you try to be an engineer if you were a white man?	I wouldn't have to. I'd already be one.
No crime in a broken-down car.	No crime being negro, neither.
Separate and equal are two different things.	Just because it's the way doesn't make it right.
There's no protocol for women attending.	There's no protocol for a man circling the Earth either, Sir.

Despite what you think, I have nothing against y'all.	I know you probably believe that.
Well, the curriculum is not designed for teaching a woman.	I imagine it's the same as teaching a man.
They never had a colored in here before, Kathrine.	Don't embarrass me.
I underestimated you...	And any other women like you.
