

“Look at us. A group of self-deluding old fossils traipsing around as if we’re on some bloody gap year, humiliating ourselves. (...) We should just face up to the truth. That we’re all old. We’re all past it. That’s the real truth. The raw, unvarnished fact of the matter. All we’re good for now is a beige bloody bungalow. With a sodding panic button in the... sodding corner”

WHO SAID IT?
